Emily Carter has always been a loner. Growing up in the foster care system, she never felt like she belonged. But when she meets Jake, a handsome rancher, she finally starts to feel like she has found a home. However, Emily's past is not far behind her, and when her foster brother, who is also her ex-boyfriend, shows up, she knows that her life is about to change forever.

Emily's foster brother, Nick, is a dangerous man. He's been in and out of jail, and he's not afraid to use violence to get what he wants. When he finds out that Emily is living with Jake, he becomes enraged. He threatens to hurt Jake if Emily doesn't come back to him.

Emily is torn. She loves Jake, but she's also afraid of Nick. She knows that if she goes with Nick, he'll hurt her. But if she stays with Jake, she could put him in danger.

As Emily tries to figure out what to do, she realizes that she can't trust anyone. Her foster parents, who she thought loved her, lied to her about her past. Nick, who she thought she could count on, is nothing more than a bully. And Jake, who she loves, might be the only person who can save her.
