A Tapestry of Natural Wonders

Nestled in the heart of southwestern Washington, the Longview Battle Ground Camas Yacolt Burn State Forest is a sprawling, 14,000-acre expanse of diverse ecosystems that beckon nature enthusiasts, historians, and outdoor adventurers alike.

From the towering Douglas firs of its majestic forests to the vibrant wildflowers that carpet its meadows, the state forest is a sanctuary of natural beauty. Majestic rivers and tranquil lakes provide opportunities for fishing, boating, and swimming, while the rugged terrain offers challenging hikes for all levels of experience.

A Rich Tapestry of History

The Longview Battle Ground Camas Yacolt Burn State Forest is also steeped in history. The land has been home to Native American tribes for centuries, and remnants of their presence can still be found throughout the forest.

In the 19th century, the area was a battleground during the Cowlitz War. Visitors can explore the Battle Ground Lake State Park, which commemorates the decisive battle that took place here in 1856.

Endless Opportunities for Adventure

The Longview Battle Ground Camas Yacolt Burn State Forest offers a wide range of recreational opportunities for visitors of all ages and interests.

Hiking

The state forest is crisscrossed by miles of hiking trails, ranging from easy interpretive trails to challenging backcountry treks. Some of the most popular trails include:

- Cougar Trail: A 5-mile loop trail that offers stunning views of Mount St. Helens and the surrounding landscape.
- Battle Ground Lake Trail: A 1-mile loop trail that leads to Battle Ground Lake, a popular spot for fishing and boating.
- Yacolt Mountain Trail: A challenging 6-mile round-trip trail that climbs to the summit of Yacolt Mountain, rewarding hikers with panoramic views of the forest and beyond.

Biking

The state forest is also home to a network of bike trails, suitable for both mountain biking and road cycling. Popular bike trails include:

- Lewis River Trail: A 15-mile paved trail that follows the Lewis River, offering scenic views and opportunities for wildlife sightings.
- Yacolt Burn Trail: A 10-mile mountain biking trail that winds through the Yacolt Burn area, a unique landscape created by a historic wildfire.

Camping

The Longview Battle Ground Camas Yacolt Burn State Forest offers a variety of camping options for visitors who wish to immerse themselves in the natural beauty of the area. Campgrounds include:

- Battle Ground Lake Campground: A popular campground located on the shores of Battle Ground Lake, offering tent and RV sites.
- Camas Creek Campground: A secluded campground situated along Camas Creek, offering tent sites and a primitive group camp area.
- Yacolt Burn Campground: A rustic campground located in the Yacolt Burn area, offering tent sites and a group shelter.
